REFLECTION QUESTIONS

Where do you imagine yourself living?

City, suburb, countryside, coast — describe the setting and why it appeals to you.

What feelings do you want your home to create?

Calm, energy, warmth, openness, safety, joy — list and describe.

What features matter most to you?

Natural light, outdoor connection, a chef's kitchen, a quiet reading nook, etc.

How much space do you need, and how do you use it day to day?

Think about your daily routines, work-from-home needs, and how rooms flow together.

Who shares your space, and how does that shape what you need?

Partner, children, pets, roommates, frequent guests — how does each person affect your design?

DEEPER REFLECTION

What materials do you love? What materials do you dislike?

Wood, stone, concrete, glass, metal, fabric, leather, ceramic — what do you want to touch every day?

What colors inspire you? What colors feel wrong?

Think beyond paint chips: the colors of a forest floor, morning light on white walls, a terracotta pot.

What existing spaces inspire your imagination?

Famous buildings, homes you've visited, hotels, restaurants, spaces from films or books.
